Subject: Support for Delivery Fee Ordinance

Hello!

I'd like to express my support for tonight's agenda item 19, the ordinance temporarily reducing delivery app fees for HB's restaurants.

Silicon Valley companies have made billions of dollars off the backs of struggling local businesses during the pandemic shut-downs. Reducing the burden of app fees on local restaurants would 1) provide needed financial relief for the businesses currently using delivery apps, and 2) could allow more businesses to afford to sign up and bring in new customers... who would hopefully continue to frequent new favorite restaurants after the shutdowns are lifted.

The city can't afford to rescue every struggling restaurant with grants-- let's help people help themselves.

Since the HB CityC council wishes to inject itself into wage and price controls by limiting fees that can be charged to restaurants for a service THEY SIGNED UP FOR , just as the state dining limitations are lifted, perhaps they can engage in some real virtue signaling and mandate that all people who order through a third party app ( Doordash, Grubhub...etc. ) must tip 20 percent... wait, lets make that 30 percent...to the drivers that deliver the orders.

Wait...does that sound ludicrous?

So does the price controls. If the restaurant dosnt want to do business with doordash or grubhub, they don't have to.

In the spirit of your proposed law, lets drop fees for all city services by 25 pct for the next 4 months.

Dear City Council,

I support limiting the fees that big food app companies can charge in our city while our restaurants get back up and running. Some charge restaurants up to 30% and don't let them position their website over the deliver apps on a search. It's the right thing to do to support restaurants in our city for now. These big biz delivery companies have made billions during the pandemic. They'll survive. Will our restaurants?

Thank you.
