2. 24-441 Approved and Adopted Minutes

Councilmember Kalmick pulled the item to share what he believes to be an omission of information documented for Council Member Items #21 on Page 19 of the June 4, 2024 minutes. He explained that while he was not physically present to witness discussion on the item after exercising his First Amendment right to protest the item and leave the meeting, he listened to the audio recording of the meeting on his way home, and requested that the minutes be amended to document a derogatory remark made by Mayor Pro Tem Burns from the dais in response to his exit from the meeting that included Councilmembers Bolton and Moser.

Councilmember Kalmick indicated that in regular times, he would have agendized a censure for breaking Council decorum rules (literally approved earlier in the meeting), but for posterity, requested that the June 4 minutes accurately reflect what occurred at that meeting, and the language that was used.

Mayor Pro Tem Burns requested clarification on specifically which statement Councilmember Kalmick was referring to. Councilmember Kalmick referred to the profane remarks made from the dais at the end of the June 4 City Council that were referenced multiple times by speakers during tonight's public comment section, and in addition, violate Council decorum rules. He also stated his opinion that Council doesn't use profane language on the dais or when discussing Councilmembers here or otherwise, and asked that the minutes document what occurred.

A motion was made by Kalmick, second Moser to approve and adopt the City Council/Public Financing Authority regular meeting minutes of June 4, 2024, as amended to document the derogatory remark made by Mayor Pro Tem Burns from the dais during discussion of Council Member Item #21.

ADMINISTRATIVE ITEMS

7. 24-452 NO ACTION TAKEN

~~Consider Proposal Received as Part of the Request for Proposal Process for Managed Library Services for the Huntington Beach Public Library~~

Assistant City Manager Travis Hopkins shared an update for this item to explain that after publication of the agenda packet, the one (1) proposal received in response to the Request for Proposal process for Managed Library Services for the Huntington Beach Public Library had been withdrawn, and therefore there is nothing to discuss for this item, adding that staff was available to answer any questions.

Mayor Van Der Mark confirmed with Manager Hopkins that the process has been completed, and thanked staff for the months of effort put into this project. She stated that Councilmembers have a responsibility to be looking at efficiencies for every single department, and lamented the fact that the community was so polarized during this process due to so much misinformation coming from Councilmembers themselves. She asked for honest and truthful communication from Councilmembers moving forward, and encouraged the public to be civil.

Councilmember McKeon reviewed the history of looming budget deficits and 27 police officer vacancies that existed when the newly elected Councilmembers were seated in December 2022. Since that time the Council has focused on reviewing every department to create operational efficiencies and taxpayer cost savings. He added it is cheaper in the long run to have legal counsel available on staff rather than paying high hourly rates for outside counsel and prosecutors for quality-of-life crimes.

Councilmember McKeon noted that during the most recent budget process, Councilmembers Bolton, Kalmick and Moser focused on ways to increase revenue while the four most recently elected Councilmembers were focused on trimming expenditures. He added that the process to consider managed library services for the Huntington Beach Public Library was an effort to determine if there are potential cost savings or efficiencies for the library system. He reiterated this effort was not a request for contracts, but rather a request for proposals for review to meet Councilmembers' fiduciary responsibility.

Councilmember McKeon stated it is factually false and inappropriate to state this process is flawed or not worth doing, and noted people actually resigned because of the premature hysteria and confusion over the actions of a Council majority focused on their fiduciary duties. He noted there are many City services, such as mail, workers' comp, library custodians, street sweeping, slurry seal, carpentry, graffiti removal, paint, block wall repair, and tire replacement which are outsourced to provide savings and efficiencies for the taxpayers.

Councilmember McKeon stated he is interested in pursuing options for potential savings and increased revenue, including review of: 1) better utilization of Central Library meeting spaces and theater and concerts in the park adjacent to the library; 2) joining with other Orange County libraries for potential bulk book purchasing discounts; 3) whether or not volunteers can replace any temporary employee positions; and 4) considering a contract or memorandum of understanding with Friends of the Library to define roles and responsibilities, provide key performance indicators and metrics to gauge success, maximize efficiencies, and enrich what Friends of the Library offers. He noted that since last December he and Cathy Fikes, Council Administrative Assistant, have sent emails and made phone calls asking for civil dialogue with Friends of the Library President Martha Elliott and no response has been received.

Councilmember Bolton replied that she specifically has requested review of cannabis and short-term rentals as potential revenue generators, and admonished Councilmember McKeon for trying to speak on her behalf. She stated her opinion that people are fearful and upset over the request for proposals for managed library services for the Huntington Beach public library because of the way the process was implemented. She noted that normally staff is directed to prepare for a study session to provide opportunity for everyone to learn at the same time and information rightfully only becomes confidential during the bidding process. She stated that when a process begins with a request for proposals it generates fear and anger, and she requested Councilmembers to show their work as a result of this effort.

Councilmember Kalmick shared his perspectives on some of Councilmember McKeon's comments by noting that Procure America looks at current contracts, not outsourcing opportunities, for efficiencies; the library committee that was created has the ability to stop new books from coming into the library, effectively banning books; the mid-year budget review in February 2023 following the seating of newly elected Councilmembers showed a small budget deficit projected for 2025/2026 and not using the 115 Trust fund until FY 2028/2029; and, the last budget that was just passed shows an $8M deficit next year, $10M deficit the following year, and $15M deficit for the following fiscal year.

Councilmember Kalmick asked what has been learned through the request for proposals for managed library services for the Huntington Beach Public Library proposal process, and reviewed the proper steps that should have been taken. He added that if the Council's desire is to look at efficiencies in all departments, then staff should be asked to do some research and if the required expertise does not already exist, then staff would recommend using third-party experts or consultants.

Councilmember Kalmick stated his opinion that is rather ingenious to consider that his campaign emails were responsible for the fear and confusion created through the request for proposal process. Councilmember Kalmick apologized to staff, to the library staff and to the people who resigned, for the way this whole process was mishandled, and stated that it is time for Councilmembers to focus on their real responsibilities, including facing budget deficits.

Councilmember Moser stated that looking for efficiencies in every department is part of the process for providing quality-of-life services to the community, including looking at both revenue and expenses. She stated this request for proposal process for managed library services for the Huntington Beach Public Library was not just an idea but the way it was handled had massive consequences. She shared her opinion that the current Council majority has done nothing but fan the flames of polarization through political theater. She stated that Council's job is to work together with the community to ensure Huntington Beach is seen as a shining oasis by the sea.

Councilmember Moser expressed appreciation for the civic engagement over this issue which has resulted in a community galvanizing across party lines. She stated it is time for real conversations to get back to good governance and move away from political theater. She asked the residents to engage in difficult conversations and to elect Councilmembers who will work together for the common good and speak decently to one another with decorum.

Councilmember Strickland stated this process worked from his perspective and noted the many community members he personally was able to engage with. He stated it is very evident that a majority of residents do not want to contract out library services, and that is where the situation sits today. He added that currently library staff determines which books to order, or not, but they are not accused of book banning. He noted the out-year budget deficit [inherited by the newly elected Councilmembers] projected for 2023/2024 of about $7M that the current sitting Councilmembers addressed and resulted in a small surplus. He also explained that any budget surplus is not rolled over from year to year like federal and state governments, but rather Huntington Beach uses surplus funds to pay down debt and save for rainy day needs. He confirmed that to work together you have to talk to each other and encouraged each sitting Councilmember to meet with every one of their colleagues for dialogue away from the dais. Councilmember Strickland shared his philosophy that it is possible to agree to disagree without being disagreeable, and stated he believes every Councilmember is doing what they think is best for the community to make Huntington Beach a better place. He encouraged everyone, residents and Councilmembers, to try to do better.
