Fairness is represented by the next in line from the last election or declare for an open seat election.
Cost shouldn't be an issue, fairness is more important. Dave Wilson (50 year resident).

Dear Huntington Beach City Council,

As a resident of Huntington Beach, I wholeheartedly recommend that you choose (Robin) Jenny Braithwaite to be selected to fill the open City Council position. I have had the privilege of working with her at Self-Help Interfaith Program where we both serve as volunteers. Despite the fact that she has a time-consuming job at California State University, she devotes countless hours to helping our formerly homeless guests become self-sufficient. She is a team player who works well with others to find creative solutions as problems arise. It is Jenny who handles all intake calls and much of the written communication for our Board of Directors. She takes it upon herself to translate and converse with our Spanish-speakers at the shelter. Her communication skills and flexibility have helped immensely as we dealt with the spread of COVID through the SHIP house. Conscientious about attending all meetings, she is passionate about making sure that guests do everything possible to maintain both physical and mental health.

Jenny enjoys discussing politics, and we both advocate for government transparency. We share the belief that if a service can be provided well by volunteers and non-profits (including the faith community) without cost to the city, then that is the choice that should be made. When we disagree, she listens intently to what is being said and tries to find points of agreement. Rather than relying on party dictates, she follows her conscience as well as the law. In addition to understanding well the causes and solutions for homelessness, she would use her interpersonal skills to increase community engagement. Her background in both business and government would help in the analysis of data, the city budget, and decisions facing City Council. Using her experience leasing real estate, Jenny has provided the appropriate lease templates for our non-profit to use. Her strong education and financial background would help our city to make wise decisions regarding economic development and housing.

Never overwhelmed with details, she responds to challenges with zeal and compassion, always wanting to "beat the odds" and prove that when there's a will, there's a way. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions about Jenny's qualifications or experience. Selecting her to fill the open seat on Huntington Beach City Council will allow her to work hard for the well-being of each and every resident as well as our entire community.

Sincerely,

Ross Morrow

I just watched the video of the Council meeting where Nadar Hana announced his interest of being on HB City Council. I really like what he had to say and would like to see him on the HB city council. I understand there is no election this time but would like to see him run and work with him to get elected when that time comes if he is not selected at this time.

Please give him your full consideration as this is who a lot of us would like to see on council.

Thank You

Subject: Support for Sam Jreisat (HB City Council Applicant)

Dear Huntington Beach City Council,

I am Wade Sarchet and have been a resident of Huntington Beach for 4+ years. Since moving here I have thoroughly enjoyed this city and all it has to offer. As I continue to be a resident of this incredible city it is important to me that I feel represented by someone of integrity with experience creating positive impact in the community. It is with that reason I am writing to express my support for Sam Jreisat as HB City Council. As a long-time resident and small business owner, he is truly integrated into the local community and understands what makes Huntington Beach great.

I have known Sam for over 4 years both professionally and personally and only have positive things to say about him. Being a repeat customer of Sam's business I can attest first hand to the positive impact that it creates in the local community to residents and businesses along with the efficiency and effectiveness at which it operates. His experience here will bring an understanding of how to create an environment for businesses small and large to flourish and grow. Matched with the empathy and strength of character that has compelled him to provide assistance to the less fortunate, excel as a businessman, and forge friendships in this city, I cannot think of a better candidate.

Thank you in advance for your consideration.

Best,

Wade Sarchet
